MUSICAL NOTES
Holy Week has arrived, and the poignant and compelling story it brings has inspired some of the greatest music ever written. Choosing music for the week always falls into the realm of having too many options. The liturgies for the week will have worship aids to provide the location of the hymns and Mass parts and the texts of the choral anthems.

Two anthems you have the opportunity to hear which deserve mention are the Lotti Crucifixus, to be sung at the English service on Good Friday, and Bach Awake Now, Wintry Earth at English Masses on Easter Sunday. Lotti took his text from the portion of the Creed which speaks of the Crucifixion and created a tension-filled piece for 8 voices which brings alive this remarkable juncture in our faith. Bach’s jubilant setting, with trumpet, organ and choir, combines images of the rebirth of the earth in spring with the celebration of Christ’s triumph over death in the Resurrection.

Beyond these anthems there will be many familiar hymns, psalms, and chants to assist us as we join Christ in his passion, death, and resurrection.

Our prayer is that each of you may come through the week with a deeper faith and a renewed heart.
